TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Next month THE UTAH COUNTY DEMOCRAT will complete its first year of publication. At the time this paper was started it was believed by many to be intended only as a transient venture and it was therefore difficult to secure subscriptions in advance. We believe, however, that we have now established our claims to permanency, and must request that subscribers in arrears settle up. It takes money to run a newspaper as well as any other business, and we need a little of it.

NEIGHBORHOOD.

Harry Boshard is reported seriously ill.
Honey cans at H. G. Blumenthal & Company's.

The board of county commissioners met yesterday to consider the question of double and erroneous assessments.
An interesting game of baseball is promised in the near future between the local K. of P. and I. O. O. F. lodges.
Capt. John Dallin of Geneva was in Provo Wednesday evening completing arrangements for the celebration of Pioneer Day at his popular resort.
The excavation for the foundations and basement of the county infirmary buildings will be finished tonight. Construction will commence at once.
Lost—Saturday, July 15, a gold "Bowknot" brooch, valued as a gift. Finder will confer a great favor and receive reward by leaving at this office.
Deputy Sheriff Knowlden had an interesting fight Thursday and thoroughly cleaned and renovated the sheriff's office. It now looks as "neat as a new pin."

FRUIT-GROWERS!

We want this week cherries, currants, gooseberries, apples,—in fact all kinds of fruit. C. F. Decker & Co.

FIREWORKS!

Messrs. Barrett & McKendrick have some of the best fireworks left over, and will make special prices for the Twenty-fourth.

Get your fishing tackle at Barrett & McKendrick's Bargain Store.

Two-yard double-gut leaders 50c. 10-20, 1-yard double-gut leaders 40c. dozen. Will have a new lot of tackle in next week.

For Pioneer Day, July 24, the R. G. W. will sell tickets between any two stations on the line, at the rate of one single fare for the round trip. Selling dates, July 23 and 24. Limited to July 25.

An interesting base ball game is promised in the near future, the printers against the court house. The former has made the challenge and we are only waiting for the county "push" to come to the front.

When county or city prisoners won't work they are placed on a strict bread and water diet. This generally works. It was tried with good effect on two prisoners this week who refused to go out to work at the poor farm.

Prof. J. R. Boshard has received a telegram from Heber asking the Tabernacle choir to go to that place and furnish the music for the Twenty-fourth. The invitation was necessarily declined but the choir will go at a later date.

THE DEMOCRAT man says he is continually stopped on the street and asked where Barrett & McKendrick's Bargain Store is and his invariable reply is, one door west of Andrew Eggersten's on Center and West Main street.

For the Quarterly Stake Conference at Provo Saturday and Sunday, July 22 and 23, the R. G. W. will sell tickets from all points in the county to Provo and return at rate of one single fare for the round trip. Selling dates, July 21, 22 and 23. Limited to July 24.

Sam Schwab, the well-known enterprising merchant, came in from a business trip to New York and Chicago Thursday. He advises us that he will be ready to open up in his new store on J street in about two weeks. Mr. Schwab will be welcomed back to Provo's business circles.

Christian Science services will be held tomorrow morning in the rooms of Utah Sermons, in Reed Street block on J street, to which a cordial invitation is extended all. Sunday School at 10:00 o'clock. Church services to be held at 11:00 o'clock. Subject, "Love." Wednesday evening experience meeting at 8 o'clock.

M. M. Warner on Thursday received word from S. N. King that the new Grand River toll road is completed from Orem to Moab. People who are obliged to make this trip will rejoice to hear this news. The old road was across the desert and in miserable condition; the new one was most expensive but makes a delightful drive along the banks of the Grand River. Mr. King has been working on the proposition for over two years and has expended many thousands of dollars.

E. J. Hendrick of Goshens is over today on business.

Wm. Holmes, the well known contractor, is over from Eureka.

Ferd Erickson, mayor of Mt. Pleasant is in Provo on business today.

Wm. J. Ridd, the traveling passenger agent of the Rio Grande Western railway, is in Provo today on company business.

D. D. Houtz has brought a suit for Lake Shore Irrigation company against Erick Neilson and fifteen others to prevent diversion of water in Lake Shore. It promises to be an interesting case.

A number of cellars in the east part of town have been filled by the stoppage of the O street drain. The trouble has not yet been located, notwithstanding strenuous efforts on the part of the city.

Quarterly conference is in session in Provo today and tomorrow in the Stake Tabernacle. Presidents Snow, Cannon and Smith are present, also Apostles Lyman and Tensdale. More extended report will be given in our next issue.

Judging from the following item from the Independent, Springville has a choice lot of hoodlums: "Last Sunday during John Martin's absence at a picnic a number of the young hoodlums with which this city is infested had a gay time at his place. They robbed John's poultry yard, threw rocks at his shop and frightened his tailor nearly into fits. They wound up their festivities by stealing a bag of bicycle tools. John is watching for a certain gang of kids, and the little wretch who gets caught will soon be supping sorrow with the spoon of grief."

Mrs. Lydia Young died at her home in Provo Tuesday evening of paralysis. The deceased was born in Bond county, Illinois, April 18, 1835, and was the daughter of Younger and Lydia McCaulin. She joined the Mormon church in 1843, and emigrated to Utah seven years later. For one year she lived in Salt Lake City and then moved to Provo, residing here ever since. In 1857 she was married to Jacob Young. Five children, three sons and two daughters survive her. Funeral services were held in the First ward meeting house yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

R. C. Watkins, the well known architect, returned Wednesday evening from a week's trip in Sevier and Sanpete counties. He attended the dedication of the Richfield Tabernacle and says the building is most satisfactory. He also advises us that the contract for the Spring City school house, of which he is the architect, has been let to Grace Bros. of Nephi for $10,500. S. H. Belmont of Provo has secured the contract for the stonework, and Holmes & Watkins, also of this city, the contract for the brick work. The outside of the building will be of the famous Provo pressed brick. It is a matter for congratulation that Provo contractors are reaching out into other territory and means much for the community.

It Developed.

"What has become of little Tommy Traddles? That bushy-headed boy with his wonderful talent for music? Did his taste develop into anything practical?" "Yes, indeed, I saw him in the city a few days ago. He was ringing a big bell in front of an auction store."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Covert Enemies.

"Dorothy has quit making me feel uncomfortable by telling me my hat wasn't on straight?" "What stopped her?" "Every time she did I told her she had too much powder on her nose."—Chicago Record.

Example.

"I wonder if it can be true that one can light a fire with ice?" said the maid with the spectacles. "If you hadn't forbidden me to mention the subject I might recur to the love I have for you," said the youth with the red owl tie and striped collar.—Indianapolis Journal.

Hobson as a Kisser.

And as a daring and competent naval officer has obtained a world wide reputation, but it is no greater than that of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway as a caterer to the comfort and safety of the general traveling public. Being the short line between Omaha and Chicago, and running the finest trains between those points, it is natural that they should have obtained that reputation.

Our trains are all lighted by electricity, heated by steam and solid vestibuled; consisting of palace day coaches, elegant chair cars, modern library cars, superb sleeping cars, and a royal "Ala Carte" dining car service, running over a rock ballasted, steel rail track, on special fast time, give you a service for comfort, safety and convenience not to be obtained by any other route. Try us once and be convinced. Ask your ticket agent for C. M. & St. P. tickets and take no other. Write for maps, time tables, etc.

L. L. DOWNING,
Commercial Agent, Salt Lake City.

PROVO LAKE RESORT.

Big Celebration on Pioneer Day Monday, July 24.

This popular resort has been newly fitted up and everything is in first class shape. There will be boating, bathing, swimming and tub races, tug of war and free dancing both afternoon and evening. S. W. Sharp and W. T. Hawkey will run back to the resort all day at 25 cents for the round trip and will take care of all visitors both ways.

Celebrate the great day of Utah at home. Everybody is invited.

Notice.

I will red-um all jury and witness warrants (green) now outstanding.

OTTO F. MALMBERG,
County Treasurer,
Provo City, Utah, July 20.

PARENTS GO INSANE.

Over Christian Science and Sear Their Children with Hot Irons.

San Francisco Examiner: Ten years ago in Paso Robles a pretty sixteen-year-old Swedish girl became the bride of an industrious young man, a native of her own country. During these ten years the couple lived in comfort and contentment. Five children were born to them. Today these little ones are worse than orphaned, for their parents have been committed to the asylum for the insane at Agnew. They are fanatics on religion. Converts to the doctrine of Christian Science, they refused medical aid when their youngest child was taken ill with convulsions. They claimed to see strange, supernatural visions, and in obedience to what they declared a divine behest they seared their children's bodies with red-hot irons. They had selected the 5th day of April as the date for crucifixion of themselves and children. Their mania is the more remarkable because they are people of education and intelligence. Fortunately it is rare that a father and mother lose their reason simultaneously, as did this unhappy couple, whose children, cast upon the world unprotected, now call the "poor form" of Monterey county their home.

Marketing in Cuba.

Probably one of the most peculiar customs noticeable in the Cuban markets are the extremely small purchases—small in quantity—made by the lower class of natives. Small gourd cups, holding scarcely more than a tablespoonful, are used in measuring rice, flour, beans and peas. Cabbages are cut in wedges the size of a cigar, turnips into eighths, squashes into minute chunks, and onions into halves. Potatoes are sold by numbers.

It is no uncommon thing to see a woman buy a piece of meat, weighing a couple of ounces, then pass through the market purchasing a tablespoonful of vegetables here and a piece of garlic there, and, finally, after an hour of gossip, depart with food products worth five or six cents.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Warsaw's Great Barracks.

The most spacious military barracks in the world are to be found in Warsaw the capital of Russian Poland, where there is accommodation for over 37,300 troops. The large garrison at Warsaw was provided for the purpose of overawing the inhabitants; and when the Emperor Nicholas visited Warsaw on his way from the congress at Toplitz, he distinctly informed the civic authorities that on the first disturbance the guns should level it with the ground.

Spice.

Pack: The evil that men do lives after them: the good they publish while they live.

Life: He Knew.—Teacher—What is the other name given to Jesus?
Tommy Traddles—Jin.

Chicago Record: Rare and Curious.—"What is a phenomenon, Uncle Aleck?"

"A phenomenon is a chestnut without a worm in it."

Detroit Free Press: Briggs—Higgins says he is going to send his wife $100 a week while she is away.

Griggs—He must belong to the peace at any price party.

Cincinnati Enquirer: In doubt.—"Are you in favor of keeping the Philippines?"

"I dunno. I jest know I aint in favor of keepin' 'em if they aint able to keep themselves."

Puck: One Objection.—McLubberty Old loike to take a trip around the worruld.

Mrs. McLubberty—Shure that would be fine!

McLubberty—Yis; but I'ink of the cost av gittin' home agin.

Heaviest Man on Earth.

Humanitarian: If greatest were the test of avoidupris the place of honor would be filled by Maurice Canon, a native of the small frontier town of Sevin in the State of Constance. This man is said to weigh not less than 50 stone, and may claim to be the heaviest man on earth. He measures over one hundred inches around the waist and 54 around the thigh. His enormous weight does not apparently inconvenience him for he is active and in robust health. He is a well-to-do, middle-aged farmer, and, though his gigantic proportions naturally make him an object of curiosity to his neighbors, he has declined all offers to stray from his native fields.

Frightfully Bad Form.

Mrs. Upjohn—O, Maudie! Maudie! How dreadful! See what you have done!

Maudie—I've spilled a little coffee on my gown. That's all, isn't it?

Mrs. Upjohn (wringing her hands)—Yes, but it's a tea gown.—Chicago Tribune.

He Scented Trouble.

"By George, I just hate to go home tonight."

"What's the trouble?"

"My wife told me when I started away this morning that she was going to put up preserves."—Chicago News.

Fitted For It.

"Casey's hearing has given out, and he is rapidly going blind."

"What's to become of him?"

"His friends are trying to have him made a baseball umpire."—Ex.

Her Accomplishments.

"Has your daughter really learned anything at the cooking school?"

"I don't know. The things she says she knows how to cook are so expensive that we can't afford to try them."—Chicago News.
